

Pastor Wanted

The United Church of the San Juans (UCSJ) is an ecumenical congregation affiliated with the ELCA, PC (USA), UCC, and UMC. The church has experienced steady growth since it's founding in 2003. A part-time retired pastor has served as organizing pastor. We have thrived having lay people taking care of the administrative, mission and outreach, congregational care, education, and many other aspects of the church, and plan to continue doing this. We are seeking a part-time Pastor for an interim period, estimated to be three to five years, until we have expanded our budget sufficiently to call a full-time Pastor. UCSJ is located in Ridgway, a small town in fabulous Ouray County in the San Juan Mountains of southwest Colorado; it is a mountain paradise for those seeking an active lifestyle of hiking, skiing, snowshoeing, fishing, hunting, or just enjoying or photographing the incomparable scenery and wildlife viewing. Ouray County attracts a steady stream of newly retired people who love the mountains; UCSJ has grown steadily by attracting such people and thus is currently a congregation of largely retirement age people.
